

DEMOCRATS SEND SENATE LEADER TO MEET BRYAN

FEAR PLAN OF GOV. JOHNSON AND MOOSERS TO EXCLUDE THEM FROM CONFERENCE.

Call Borden has said several times he is convinced that there is a deep motive underlying the flight of his daughter with two women and that he does not believe the affair was merely a lark. As he was preparing to start for Boston Mr. Borden gave out a statement at the Hotel Manhattan, where he lives.

"The whole thing is too deep for me," he said, "What the motive was I do not know, but I am convinced that there is something deeper in the whole affair than I know. I am pursued and have been in doubt as to the best course to pursue. But I am convinced that my daughter's flight is due entirely to the influence that was exercised over her by Mrs. White and one of Mrs. White's nieces."

"What this influence is due to I do not know. But I know it is strong. Mrs. White was at Ormond last March when I was there with my daughter. I brought Kamona back to Washington with me, but we had no sooner arrived in Washington than Kamona broke away and returned to Savannah. It was following this that I sought to break up her friendship with Mrs. White and Claude and Violet Shelden, her nieces. My efforts do not seem to have been of much avail."

ALIEN LAW POLITICS.

Johnson's Ambition to Be U. S. Senator Behind His Present Attitude.

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—State Senator Stanford, Democratic National Committee member, started Eastward to-day to meet Secretary of State Bryan and explain to him in advance how the Progressives are trying to corral him to the exclusion of all others.

This is only one indication of the lively row over who is to confer with Mr. Bryan, when he arrives. The Bull Moosers are running things with a high hand, and the political aspects of the turmoil growing out of the alien land legislation have not tended to allay feeling.

It is reported to-day that Gov. Johnson is likely to lose the support of Col. Roosevelt because of his stand. The Governor is said to want to succeed United States Senator Perkins, whose place the Progressives expect to fill. Gov. Johnson was formerly against anti-Japanese legislation. It is declared. But in his assertion of State sovereignty he sounded a popular chord, so he is sticking to the tune. Col. Roosevelt is said to feel that by so doing Gov. Johnson has thrown national security into the balance, and the belief is expressed that the Colonel will support Francis J. Henry for United States Senator.

WHAT LOST HEIRS AND HER COMPANIONS IN FLIGHT LOOK LIKE

Here are the descriptions of the principals in the now famous "Case of the Missing Millionaires":

Miss Althea Kamona Borden—Age, fourteen years, four months; height, four feet, ten inches; weight, 115 pounds; eyes, grayish blue; hair, between blonde and brunette and worn on top of the head with a short bang over the forehead; general characteristics, round, full face, mouth drooping at the corners, sturdy build, inclining to chunkiness; is devoted to showy clothes and usually wears that kind; wears a silver ring with the letters "G. B." inscribed on it.

Mrs. William J. White, also known as Mrs. Helen Shelden White—Age, about thirty-five; height, five feet, six inches; weight, about 130 pounds; eyes, deep blue; hair, very blonde; general characteristics, a style and carriage described as "dashing," dresses very expensively and wears a great amount of valuable jewelry.

Mrs. T. A. Backus, also known as Mrs. Marion A. Backus—Age, about forty-five; height, about five feet, six inches; weight, about 130 pounds; eyes, dark hazel; hair, dark brown; characteristics, long face, dresses very plainly and wears little jewelry.

SHE LEAPED FOR STEAMER BUT FELL IN ICY WATER.

Carried Under Pontoon, Miss Kane Was Lassoed and Hauled Out Shivering.

Miss Mary Kane, forty-eight years old, living at No. 28 Ditmars street, Brooklyn, started for Stapleton, L. I., at noon to-day. She purchased a ticket at the Stapleton ferry, and went through the gate and into the ship. The small ferry from Governor's Island to the city as well as the Stapleton steamers. One of the former boats was just pulling out as Miss Kane reached the ship, she thought it was her steamer and made a jump for it. She miscalculated the distance and fell into the water. Her screams brought a number of people rushing into the ship, but nobody could locate her. She had gone under the pontoon, and there grasped the chains and was holding on for dear life.

Fred Feldman, engineer of the ferry building, was the first to find her. He secured a rope, made a running noose and, reaching far out over the pontoon, dropped it over Miss Kane's shoulders, telling her to slip the rope under her arms. She had the presence of mind to follow instructions, and with the aid of several others the engineer lifted her to the top of the pontoon and to the pier.

Miss Kane was shivering from her cold bath, but otherwise did not seem to be injured. A call was sent for the Hudson ambulance and she was taken to the hospital.

TALK OF THE FIREMEN HOTTER THAN THE FIRE

That was Because Their Auto Hook and Ladder Truck "Went Dead."

Fire started this afternoon in the wreck of the dismantled apartment house at Nos. 26 and 28 West Fifty-ninth street. The appearance of a fire in the building aroused much interest in the hotel and the number of guests in the restaurant and crowded to the Central Park wall to take a casual interest in the proceedings. The hottest thing which happened was not the fire, which was quickly quenched.

Auto Hook and Ladder Truck No. 16 "went dead" in front of the Netherlands Hotel. The firemen made frantic efforts to get it going again. In the midst of their wildest efforts a fire old gentleman with a white mustache and a high hat ambled over to them.

"I say, my men," he asked, "could you tell me when the exhibition is to begin?"

There was some unkind language from the members of the company. It was hotter than the fire.

MISS ALICE MEYER A BRIDE.

Daughter of Ex-Secretary of Navy Wed to Lieut. C. B. Rogers.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Miss Alice Meyer, daughter of the former Secretary of the Navy and Lieut. Christopher P. Rogers, U. S. N., were married here at noon. Miss Helen Tard was a bridesmaid and the ceremony was attended by a distinguished company including many government officials and members of the diplomatic corps.

Bank Reserve $15,445,700.

The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they held $15,445,700 in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $1,000,000 from last week.

DEMOCRATS SEND SENATE LEADER TO MEET BRYAN

Fear Plan of Gov. Johnson and Moosers to Exclude Them From Conference.

ALIEN LAW POLITICS.

Johnson's Ambition to Be U. S. Senator Behind His Present Attitude.

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—State Senator Stanford, Democratic National Committee member, started Eastward to-day to meet Secretary of State Bryan and explain to him in advance how the Progressives are trying to corral him to the exclusion of all others.

This is only one indication of the lively row over who is to confer with Mr. Bryan, when he arrives. The Bull Moosers are running things with a high hand, and the political aspects of the turmoil growing out of the alien land legislation have not tended to allay feeling.

It is reported to-day that Gov. Johnson is likely to lose the support of Col. Roosevelt because of his stand. The Governor is said to want to succeed United States Senator Perkins, whose place the Progressives expect to fill. Gov. Johnson was formerly against anti-Japanese legislation. It is declared. But in his assertion of State sovereignty he sounded a popular chord, so he is sticking to the tune. Col. Roosevelt is said to feel that by so doing Gov. Johnson has thrown national security into the balance, and the belief is expressed that the Colonel will support Francis J. Henry for United States Senator.

REFUSE TO ASK OTHER GOVERNORS TO CONFERENCE.

With the Bull Moosers in the saddle, the Legislature yesterday refused to invite Governors of other Pacific Coast States to the conference with Mr. Bryan. The House voted down a resolution to appoint three members to welcome Mr. Bryan and escort him to his hotel. The floor leader took the position that Secretary Bryan is an executive officer and that the Chief Executive officer of the State is the Governor, hence the Governor should be allowed to manage such details.

The Democrats supported the resolution, but feel they believe everything will be done to keep them from getting near Mr. Bryan, and for that reason sent their National Committee to intercept him and explain.

To further complicate matters, the Chinese have added their protest to that of the Japanese at the pending bill. The agitation is not aimed at the Chinese, but it hits them equally as hard. They are more important than the Japanese in San Francisco financial and commercial circles, but they have no such government and navy to back them up as have the Japanese, so they have said little. Last night their first protest reached the Legislature. It is from the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association, otherwise known as the Six Companies, and is in part:

"We, the undersigned Chinese, do hereby protest that this State's share of such trade cannot be secured by legislation that humiliates us, brands us with an inferiority, and places us before the nation."

TO RADICAL LEGISLATION.

San Francisco business interests are a unit, almost, in opposition to the bill and they will tell Mr. Bryan so. But he will find that the San Francisco newspapers, which a few weeks ago were suppressing even the routine news of such a movement in the Legislature, are now printing broadsheets of the bill and of the two exceptions saving the flag of State's rights to the tune sung by Hiram Johnson. The latter element is very strong in San Francisco and this accounts for the fact that the San Francisco delegation in the Legislature turned a deaf ear to the pleadings of the Panama Exposition managers and business men.

Mr. Bryan will find a new ally ready for his legislation when he arrives. It will be fathered by Senator Thompson, who originally was classed as an opponent of any such legislation, but who is a Johnson lieutenant. And this bill will follow the line of reasoning that Japanese are ineligible to citizenship in the United States and that California may properly exclude from land ownership all aliens ineligible to citizenship. The question of classing the Japanese with the Chinese, however, has never been regarded by the Japanese Government as res judicata, and its extension to a prohibition of land ownership for the Federal Government to deal with, instead of one long since settled as is the assertion of the Rooseveltian Gov. Johnson.

Japan Calmer, but One Paper Tokio to Meet as "No Toy."

TOKIO, April 25.—Satisfaction is generally expressed here over the decision of President Wilson to designate of State Secretary Bryan, Sacramento, Cal., to consult with the legislators on the question of the proposed alien land ownership legislation.

The majority of the Japanese newspapers adopt a more tranquil tone to-day, but the widely circulated Osaka Mainichi, an independent newspaper, in a warlike spirit, points to the Japanese fleet as no toy and says that if necessary or if forced thereby by discriminatory legislation it is capable of vindictive national action.

Leader of Barefoot Dancers In Pageant "A Dream of Freedom"

FLORENCE FLEMING NOYES

MOTHER DISINHERITS ROSENHEIMER, WHOSE AUTO KILLED A GIRL

Money, However, Goes to His Wife, So Damage Suits for Death Can't Reach It.

Stating that she did so "for personal reasons with which he is acquainted," Mrs. Louise Rosenheimer, who inherited more than a million dollars from her husband, cut out of her will her son, Edward T. Rosenheimer, whose automobile caused the death of Miss Grace Hough. Mrs. Rosenheimer died April 19 at her home, No. 520 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street.

It is understood that Rosenheimer's disinheriting was due to his mother's wish to prevent the money being seized by his creditors or for damages due to the fatal automobile accident. His share is left to his wife.

Mrs. Rosenheimer was the widow of Julius T. Rosenheimer, head of the London Needle Company, who five years ago was mysteriously murdered in the garden of his home, the Rose, one of the show places of Peikham. She spent vast sums trying to run down her husband's slayers, and later in defense of her son, who was acquitted on the charge of homicide. One half her estate goes to her daughter, Mrs. Emma R. Curran of No. 519 West One Hundred and Forty-third street, and the other half to her son's wife.

The question of Rosenheimer's prosecution under the Callan law for fleeing after the accident comes before the Court of Appeals next month. After Miss Hough's father had obtained a judgment for $7,320 damages and other victims of the accident made claims, Rosenheimer went into bankruptcy for liabilities of $5,773 last Aug. 15, four days after his mother had made her will.

CHAUFFEURS HOLD UP STRIKE

Auto-Mechanists Likely to Win Without Sympathy Walkout.

The 750 chauffeurs of the Yellow Taxi-cab Company who met last night to consider calling a sympathetic strike to aid 300 machinists who walked out Thursday afternoon decided to postpone action until Monday. They were told the machinists' strike will probably be settled this evening.

In conference the officials of the company have shown a disposition to agree to the demands of the men for an eight-hour day, at the same pay they are getting for nine hours, but it has been intimated that the strikers' newly organized union will not be recognized. The men don't care much whether the union is recognized or not.

CALL FOR THE ARREST OF GLOVER, WHO STRUCK CONGRESSMAN SIMS

House Committee in Report Finds Washington Banker in Contempt—Wants Warrant Issued.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Special House Committee which investigated the assault by Charles C. Glover, a local banker, on Representative Sims of Tennessee, reported to-day it had found Glover in contempt of the House and recommended that the Speaker issue a warrant for his arrest to answer that charge.

Chairman Davis of West Virginia said he would call it up for action as soon as the House had disposed of the tariff bill.

BAREFOOT DANCE TO BE FEATURE OF SUFFRAGE PAGEANT

Free Seats for the Scrub Women of the Metropolitan Opera House.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S PART

Mme. Lillian Nordica Announced to Sing in Important Role.

Barefoot dancers, the title of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's speech and free seats for scrubwomen—these are three new "features" just announced for the suffrage pageant, "A Dream of Freedom," the first rehearsal of which will take place next Tuesday. The pageant itself will be given on the evening of Friday, May 2, in the Metropolitan Opera House.

The barefoot dancers represent the virtues of woman, who are also the hand-maidens of freedom. Their leader, Mrs. Florence Fleming Noyes, who danced as Liberty on the steps of the Capitol in Washington. Mrs. Sarah Truax Albert will be Justice, and the other hand-maidens include Mrs. Arnold Furst (who was an "Angel in Art" last night), Miss Edith Marley, Miss Edie Baker, Miss Leah Hopson, Miss Marion Becker, Miss Marjorie Manson, and Mrs. Richard Bennett. The chief part in the pageant, Woman, has been assigned to the actress, Miss Pauline Frederick, and Columbia, another important role, will be sung by Madame Lillian Nordica.

ROOSEVELT TO ORATE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

As for the Colonel, he will orate on "Woman Suffrage Demanded in the Interest of Good Citizenship," and he has proposed a hand willingness to emphasize any aspect of his theme preferred by the ladies. Here is the Colonel's very latest utterance upon suffrage, as given out by Mrs. James Lee Leal:

"In solving the great problems ahead of us we have a right, in the interests of all of us, to demand that every resource for good government be put into the service of the State, and it is a wrong of the community to deprive all of us of what women can do for the community through their votes."

WHAT THE STORY OF THE PAGEANT WILL SHOW.

The story of the pageant shows how the Spirit of Woman, after making vain appeals to Truth, Knowledge, and Equity, finally knows the altar of Freedom. Then Hope shows her the vision of Liberty, and she arouses her sister women and their children to seek the vision. The pageant of States follows, in which each State, represented by a man and a woman, lays a wreath on Freedom's altar, and only one representative of the nine enfranchised States and of Alaska are allowed to enter the temple. The rest of the men form a solid phalanx at the foot of the temple, barring the progress of the women, until Justice, invoked by the Spirit of Woman, intervenes with lifted sword.

Freedom at last appears on the scene, taking the form of Columbia, and as a male leads the performers and the audience in the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Some of those not previously announced who will take part in the pageant are Mrs. David Balch, Miss Irene Beach, Mrs. Riva Weil, Mrs. Albert Plimpton, Mrs. Margaret Brewer, Mrs. Helen C. Brown, Mrs. Arthur Bowen, Mrs. Myra McNeil, Miss Keith Wake-man, Mrs. A. F. Townsend, Mrs. McDonald Sheridan, Miss Margaret Wy-cherly, Miss Kathleen Lyon, Miss Alice Reed, Mrs. Frank Stratton, Miss Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Alexander Morton, Mrs. T. S. Walton, Miss Edna L. Plimpton, Mrs. Philip Bolles, Miss Elisabeth Cleveland, Mrs. Robert Milton, Miss Helen Griffith, Miss Gertrude Lee.

GOOD-BY TO HORSE CARS.

Crosstown Line Will Be Changed to Electric Road.

Gradually the last of New York City's horse car lines are going. The Metropolitan Crosstown Company wants now to supplant its present horse cars with up-to-date storage battery trams and has accordingly made application for power to do so to the Public Service Commission.

The Crosstown line runs through Delancey street across the Bowery, through Spring street to West Broadway and thence through Spring, Sullivan and Watts streets to Desbrosses street ferry.

The Commission will consent to the change.

STRIKERS IN FURY AS POLICE ARREST THEIR LEADERS

the mob rocked to and fro as those furthest from the stage tried to push their way to the front. Men in the front rows leaped onto the stage, and for an instant it looked as though the detectives would be torn from his side and tossed over the sea of heads to the door of the hall.

But then Quinn was seen to burst out from among the detectives and advance to the front of the stage, both arms raised in a commanding gesture for silence, while over the rumbling roar of the crowd his big voice boomed loudly.

"Have done," he shouted. "No nonsense now. These men have a warrant for me. I want to be arrested. They can't hold me. I shall be out with you again before nightfall. Let no man here make a move to stop us. I am going with these gentlemen and I am going voluntarily."

An angry murmur in the crowd and the shouting from behind continued, but those nearest the stage and under the commanding gaze of their leader turned their strength against the on-coming tide with shouted words added their counsel to the commands of Quinn.

Slowly the shouting and pushing ceased, the murmurs died down and presently Quinn, less a prisoner than the protector of the three men who nominally held him in custody, pushed through the strikers' ranks to the door.

NOT A HAND RAISED AGAINST THE POLICE.

The crowd opened a passage for the little group, only to close it close behind them, but not a hand was raised under the glare of Quinn, and unmolested he escorted his captors to the door. Then he walked quietly to Police Headquarters, behind him a yelling, jeering mob of strikers, but a mob whose members he controlled under the glance which he frequently cast back over them.

There were shouts, but no violence, and as Quinn passed through the portals of Police Headquarters the throng waited a few minutes in the street and then drifted off in couples or larger groups, once again to take up their stand at the railroad station against the coming of Haywood.

For it was at the Erie station that Miss Flynn and Treaca had been arrested. They had arrived in Paterson on the train arriving at 10:07 o'clock, and with them had been Quinn, but more wise than they, he had run to the last car and jumped off on the side opposite the station just before the train came to a halt. Then by a cut across back streets he had reached Helvetia Hall in time to make a four-minute address to the strikers before the detectives guessed where he was and followed him.

TRECA AND MISS FLYNN TRIED TO ALIGHT AT THE STATION AND WERE MET BY HALF A DOZEN DEPUTY SHERIFFS AND DETECTIVES ARMED WITH WARRANTS FOR THEIR ARREST.

Round the station were 2,000 or more strikers who had waited for hours against the coming of their leaders, and a mighty shout arose as a girl and man appeared on the platform. It changed to a threatening roar as the police stepped forward and arrested the couple. The crowd surged forward, but Miss Flynn and Treaca were hustled into the baggage room of the station and the door was slammed shut and locked in their faces.

CROWD FOLLOWS, BUT MAKES NO EFFORT AT RESCUE.

Then there was a hurried telephone call for a patrol wagon, and presently one came with a score of policemen running alongside. Miss Flynn and Treaca were put in the wagon and hurried away to Police Headquarters, the crowd following and yelling behind, but making no effort to rescue their leaders.

The indictment of the I. W. W. leaders was the throwing down of the gauntlet by the authorities. The news flashed through strike circles last night, although the strike had not yet been delayed until within a few minutes of 9 o'clock, the time the leaders have been accustomed to leave Paterson for New York. Haywood, Miss Flynn and Treaca got away last night, and Lessig, who lives in Paterson, was arrested at his home.

Koestgen, who was indicted simply because he owned Helvetia Hall, where the strike needs will be arrested probably to-day or to-night, though the police, realizing they can get him at any time, are in no haste to arrest him until Haywood shall have been captured. Koestgen is father of Ewald Koestgen, an I. W. W. organizer.

Wealthy Socialists who have championed the cause of the I. W. W. are understood to be ready with cash bail for the leaders, and so it is likely that the release of all of them will follow immediately on their arraignment before Judge Kleiner.

Prosecutor Michael Dunn said to-day that the first of the trials could not be begun until May 6. By that time all the persons in doubt will have been arrested, for it is no part of the plan of the I. W. W. leaders to lose this opportunity to pose as martyrs. Nothing could aid them more among their followers in their fight against the American Federation of Labor, which the I. W. W. men assert in trying to sell the strike out to the mill owners, than to be arrested and prosecuted.

Miss Flynn and Treaca were released in $3,000 bail each. Quinn was held in $7,000 bail and it is likely that he may have to remain in jail until Monday as it is not expected that bail in this amount can be raised easily.

Haywood did not put in an appearance in Paterson to-day and it was rumored that he intended slipping into Haledon to-morrow and bringing about his arrest in the midst of a dramatic address to the strikers.

CHURCH GETS MILLION OF YOUNG BORDEN, WHO DIED AS MISSIONARY

Relatives Barely Mentioned in Will by Chicagoan Who Gave Up Life in His Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 25.—The will of William Whiting Borden, the young millionaire who consecrated his life to work as a missionary and died in Egypt while on his way to the field of his work, leaves all of
